

Disclaimer

This Commentary has been prepared and issued by the Institute for Energy Economics and Financial Analysis Australia Limited (IEEFA). It sets out information and observations about the organisation(s) which is or are the subject of this Commentary (each an Organisation) concerning its business operations. This Commentary is supplied to the Reader on the following conditions –

1. This Commentary is not a disclosure document regulated under the Corporations Act or the Australian Securities and Investments Commission, and it does not purport to contain all or any information that may be required to evaluate any transaction in relation to the Organisation. The Reader should conduct its own independent review, investigations and analysis of the Organisation and of the information contained, or referred to, in this Commentary.
2. This Commentary is for information and educational purposes only. The information provided in this Commentary is publicly available information, and the purpose of publishing this Commentary is to promote action by the Reader consistent with IEEFA's sustainability objectives. IEEFA does not provide tax, legal, investment, financial product or accounting advice. This Commentary is not intended to provide, and should not be relied on for, tax, legal, investment, financial product or accounting advice, and it does not take into account any personal objectives, circumstances or financial needs of any particular Reader. Nothing in this Commentary is intended as investment or financial product advice, as an offer or solicitation of an offer to buy or sell, or as a recommendation, opinion, endorsement, or sponsorship of any financial product, class of financial products, security, company, or fund. IEEFA is not responsible for any investment or other decision made by a Reader and each Reader is responsible for its own investment research and investment decisions. To the extent that a Reader is an investor, or is considering investing in the Organisation, the Reader should obtain its own financial advice in relation to any investment in the Organisation.
3. Neither IEEFA, nor its directors, officers, employees, agents, advisers or representatives (referred to collectively as the Beneficiaries) makes any representation or warranty, express or implied, as to the accuracy, reliability or completeness of the information contained in this Commentary and the Beneficiaries shall have no responsibility arising in respect of the information contained in this Commentary.
